The Center for Health Innovation invites you to a lecture and panel discussion on Ebola and Beyond: Are we Ready? Thursday November 6th, 2014 at 6:00 pm. Dr. Samuel Stanley, President of Stony Brook University, will keynote this event. Dr. Stanley was one of the nation's highest recipients of support from the National Institutes of Health (NIH) for his research focusing on enhanced defense against emerging infectious diseases. He is an expert in the biological mechanisms that cells employ when responding to infectious agents such as parasites, bacteria, and viruses.

The event will also feature experts in the field of infectious disease and public health including:

- Philip Alcabes, PhD, Professor, Adelphi University College of Nursing and Public Health, and author of Dread: How Fear and Fantasy Have Fueled Epidemics from the Black Death to Avian Flu
- L. Reuven Pasternak, MD, CEO and Vice President for Health Systems of Stony Brook University Hospital
- Victor F. Politi, MD, FACP, FACEP, President and CEO of NuHealth System
- Nurse Researcher Zainab Tuteh Attahiru
- Other invited speakers include JFK Medical Management Services, NS-LIJ Health System, and Winthrop University Hospital

Light refreshments will be served. This event is free and open to the public, but space is limited.

Please RSVP by Nov 4th to Audrey Onderdonk, Administrative Assistant, Center for Health Innovation at aonderdonk@adelphi.edu or call (516) 877-4582
