Active Shooter and Mass Casualty Incident Awareness

Since 2000 there have been more than 160 active shooter/ mass casualty incidents in the US. They have become more frequent and we now know that they can happen anywhere at any time, for any reason.

AS & MCIs require extraordinary efforts on the part of all local first responders. Although these attacks usually end within a few minutes from the time they begin, the incident and response actions may play out over an extended period of time. Also, they may include a “direct threat” with an ongoing active shooter(s); multiple casualties requiring extensive triage, treatment and transportation efforts; and large numbers of response personnel, bystanders and spontaneous volunteers.

Join Brett Roberts, EMT-B/CIC as he discusses the role of EMS during this type of event and how they fit into the larger system; as well as medical care that may be unfamiliar or infrequently used by EMS.

This course may be applied toward EMS Operations, Trauma, or General Elective CME hours under the NY State DOH EMS Continuing Education Recertification Program.
